Pride

Banging a locker door, winning first place at a cross country meet, dancing at one of OHS's dances, or walking down the halls in one's own special way all involve one thing—pride.

Pride was familiar not only to OHS students, but to faculty and parents as well. Whether it was teachers signing up as dance chaperones or parents attending a Lion football game, everyone moved one way or another to get things done.

The MANE ATTRACTION at the beginning of school was football. Moving down to AA did not mean weaker competition. Third year coach Jim Green commented, "I enjoyed competing in 6AA because it was a strong district—in fact, the strongest year ever." The Lion team played with pride and fought to the last second in every game.

Another MANE ATTRACTION was the band. With twenty seniors leading the way, they played at halftimes, earned a trip to the regional marching contest, and realized that hard work in practice pays off.

Cross country began with a bang, with the Lions qualifying runners for the regional and state meets.

Boys' basketball made the post-district play-offs. Girls' varsity basketball won ten games, a school varsity record. At Sonora the senior girls won their first tournament trophy during their high school careers. Tuesday and Friday nights found basketball the exciting MANE ATTRACTION.

To some the school year was "just another year", but to others it was comprised of many MANE ATTRACTIONS.

Priorities

As the seniors and freshmen struggled with Shakespeare, a greater battle was being waged in most OHS students' minds: which came first, academics or extracurricular activities?

Most students rarely had all attention focused on academics. Even after the impact of HB 72, which significantly decreased the absences a student could have for extracurricular activities and limited the amount of time one could spend outside the school day practicing and participating in school-related activities, the bill could not "make" students go home after school and study.

Rather than studying, some students chose to leave Ozona on Saturday mornings by six o'clock to compete in academic tournaments while other students chose to compete in athletics. These choices reflected individual priorities.

Pri-ori-ty (pri-ore-te) n. 1. that which precedes in time or order. 2. that which precedes in importance. Setting priorities paved the way for future privileges; however, with these privileges came the necessity to set priorities. OHS students exemplified this philosophy by the choices which received top priority status in daily campus activities.

Although more attention focused on sports than on academic concerns, most students set priorities which prepared them for life after high school. Computer, homemaking, auto mechanics and cosmetology classes opened doors to new technology and increased hope for times after high school years. Priorities make goals. Goals—adequate goals—formed the foundation for OHS education.

The Mane Attraction presents... Student Life

Admit One

Student life at Ozona High School is greatly varied as every student participates in many activities.

For the academic minded, classes such as physics, chemistry, and biology offer opportunities to conduct scientific experiments. In photo 2, physics students Tressa Crawford, Sam Hightower, Robin Bolf, Michael Glaze, parent Mary Lou Knox, and Chantele Pesson track one of their model rockets as it glides through the air.

Others enjoy the school's wide variety of extracurricular activities. From band to athletic to academic competitions, something exists for each student.

Although each student leads a different life, he is a part of Ozona's MANE ATTRACTION, Ozona High School.

A person can't turn a single corner at OHS without seeing fashion . . . It's everywhere! People are wearing everything from leather hightop tennies to Levi's 501 jeans to Corona t-shirts.

The fashion of the 80's suggests that just about anything goes, and it's all going onto the bodies of OHS students. The girls are involved in a shoe craze where many wear either Keds or silver shoes. Speaking of shoes, those ever-popular Reeboks seem to be covering a lot of ground, too.

Turning to movies, TOP GUN was voted the most popular movie in a survey taken by all OHS students in November. Cybil Shepard and Tom Cruise nabbed top honors as favorite leading lady and man. If movies weren't the subject on most students' minds, music probably was. OHS's favorite artist was Eddie Money with Bon Jovi sweeping the categories of favorite singing group and song with "You Give Love a Bad Name".

While the students were wrapped-up in all these things, they still had room for pizza which they voted their favorite food.

The Civic Center and "the Drag" were balloted the "hot spots" in Ozona.

Hightower faded back. Wait, who was the guy way downfield? Could it be? . . . Well, of course, it was. Roger Flores had made his move and faked out the secondary once again. Hightower unloaded the most awesome pass known to man. (No wonder they call him "Slinger".) Although attempts were made to catch Roger Flores, the touchdown was scored. The rest is history. The final score was Ozona 18, Iraan 15.

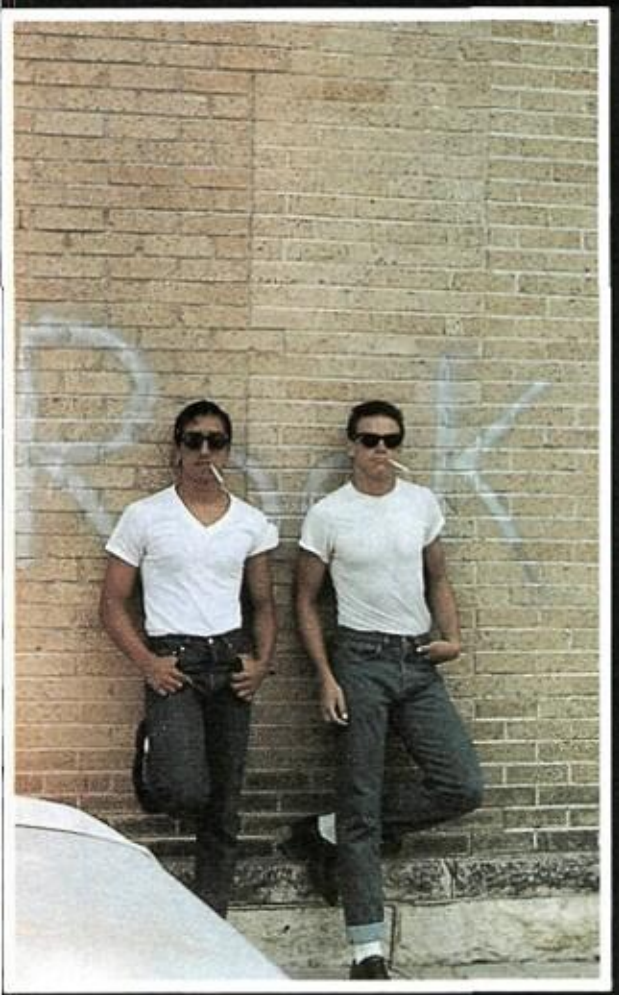
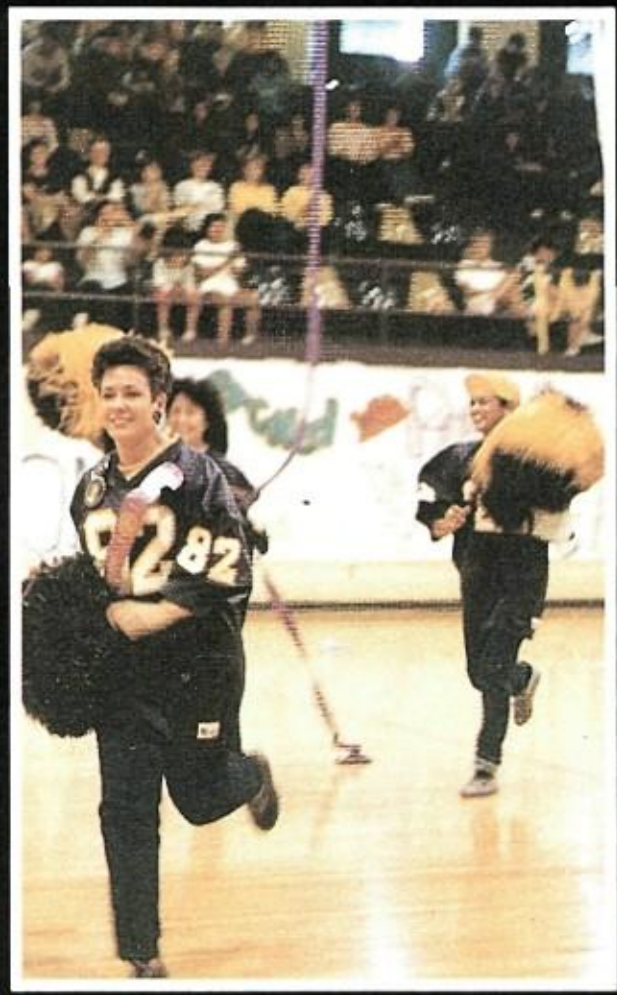
Homecoming '86





The spirited homecoming week ended with the climactic crowning of the queen. However, spirits dampened as an overflow crowd witnessed the Lions suffer defeat at the hands of the Greenwood Rangers in the traditional football game.

Hillbilly get-ups, slob dresses, 50's styles, and clashing outfits filled the school's halls during the week. Those students showing exceptional "taste" in attire were awarded prizes. Roger Flores and Randi Thompson captured the title of Mr. and Miss Spirit. "I thought that by taking part in spirit week it would be the best way for the Lions to realize I was behind them," commented Miss Spirit Randi Thompson. One of their rewards was lighting the traditional bonfire.

The first of two pep rallies was hosted Thursday night where a searing fire burned a Greenwood Ranger in effigy. Then on Friday, everyone wore purple and gold and the second pep rally drew a large attendance as both high school and junior high cheerleaders performed at the gala event.

As game time approached, spirits soared! Vickie Reagor was crowned queen; however, the football team had a tough time with Greenwood. Emotions were tried as the clock ticked away with Ozona behind 6-30.

The culmination of the week's activities came as exes and current OHS students danced to the rhythm and beat provided by Dr. Toons at the homecoming dance. The strike of midnight saw a memorable and fun homecoming week draw to a close.

'pride' takes first division

The MANE ATTRACTION for many high school fans this year was the Lion marching band, which had its most successful season in history.

When summer rehearsals began a month before school started, everyone knew that the directors were expecting something big. At that first rehearsal, the word "state" was on every band member's mind.

That winning attitude persisted through the year, and the band realized that its goal was within grasp.

Finally, after weeks of hard work, the "Pride of Crockett County," along with its entourage of fans, left for Brady's Bulldog Stadium to compete in the UIL district marching contest.

Anticipation was high that Saturday; however, when two o'clock rolled around and the band took the field, the bandsmen knew what they had to do.

The band pulled together an excellent show that afternoon causing District VII Executive Secretary Douglas Fry to exclaim, "This is the best Ozona band I've ever seen!" The band had become the MANE ATTRACTION in conference AA competition.

After a short wait, the ratings began to come forth. As the public address system rang out the results, worried looks came over many faces because only one first division had been awarded. Then, hesitating, the announcer said, "Ozona . . . one!" The band went wild.

How sweet it is! Band members celebrate after earning a superior rating.

Presenting the MANE ATTRACTION! The band performs its award winning show.

REGIONAL MARCHING CONTEST

Band Marches Within One Step

Ozona was selected to advance, along with Eldorado, to the regional marching contest after earning one of only two superior ratings awarded among the twelve class AA bands.

On the return trip from Brady, the Lion band received a fifteen mile escort into town by the sheriff and fire departments. As the band rolled around the town square up to the band hall, a crowd of excited townspeople greeted it.

The next week was extremely intense. Between sectionals and full band rehearsals, all of the minor details were worked out. Finally, as the band held its final rehearsal, all of the hard work seemed to be paying off. The band began to play as one instead of as individuals.

The "Pride of Crockett County" departed from the band hall Friday night aboard chartered buses on its way to Waco to compete in the UIL marching contest at Baylor Stadium.

Finally, it was Saturday, November 1st, and the competition had begun.

As the band warmed up for the rather controversial contest, the band members had no intention of settling for anything less than the best. Although the band's performance was outstanding, it was stopped short of the state contest.

Ozona Stockman editor Kitty Montgomery summed up the season by writing, "The community is very proud of the band this year and feel they should have gotten a better break, but life is funny that way; it's not always fair."

CROSS COUNTRY STATE QUALIFIERS

Cross Country Is Born

In the first year of cross country competition the Ozona girls and boys did themselves proud. The girls' team was third at district. The boys' team was second at district, third at regional, and seventh at state.

Young, individual performers set standards that they will have a chance to better next year. Maria Sanchez finished second at district and nineteenth out of over 130 contestants at regional. Danny Sanchez won first at district, second at regional, and was the third place bronze medalist at the state meet.

The two seniors Johnny Lombrano and Valdo Galindo, along with other Lions, remembered going to Lubbock for regional and not having motel rooms. After some anxious moments, Coach Y. found rooms at the Holiday Inn. Later the teams went out and ate Italian food and locked the keys in the bus. Coach Maldonado drove to Lubbock after the Stanton football game and got to bed around four o'clock. During the meet, the bus was broken into and robbed. Although super-sleuth Coach Maldonado tracked the alleged thieves, none of the stolen property was ever recovered.

After the cross country meet in Georgetown, sophomore Jason Montgomery commented, "Going to state was a great experience. We ran against time, other good runners, and ourselves. We also had a lot of fun."

If following years are as exciting, cross country will be a MANE ATTRACTION for Ozona.

Listening intensely. Jason Montgomery and Danny Sanchez eagerly await the results at regional.

Winter Wonderland Comes Unexpectedly

It was late Tuesday night, Dec. 14, 1986. A light fluffy substance began to fall. By Wednesday morning, the whole town was covered with a blanket of white, bright glare—snow!

Because all county roads were impassable, the bus routes were closed. School was postponed until 10 o'clock.

The frozen crystals continued to fall Wednesday. Along with the freezing temperature that night came the ice; school was cancelled Thursday morning.

Snowmen popped up everywhere. Young and old alike enjoyed the emotions the weather brought.

Although much fun was present, the 56th Annual Ozona Basketball Tournament was postponed, and played Friday and Saturday.

Very little snow fell Thursday. The temperature rose Friday and the clouds cleared away, but this left a beautiful quilt of white that would remain a few days. Nothing compared to the snow of '86.

"Hey, Jones, it's snowing outside!" Jones Fay poses for the camera and finally realizes that it is snowing outside.

B-r-r-r, it's nippy out. The Ozona National Bank temperature reminds everyone how cold it was during the '86 winter snow storm.

"Where's the party?" OHS students huddle in the snow to stay warm.

"Alright, who tripped me?" Diane Sanchez tumbles in the snow after being hit by a snowball.

Ozona Owns Spring Meet Trophy

For the first time ever, Ozona claimed the MANE spring honor, the spring meet trophy. The honor is awarded to the team in the district that accumulates the most points. Points are given according to place in OAP, UIL literary events, and boys' and girls' golf, tennis, and track. As the group photograph indicates, well over 150 OHS students competed in the various events.

'I Wanna Go Back'

Ruffles and tuxes made the scene as the juniors and seniors gathered for the banquet and prom entitled "I Wanna Go Back."

The juniors chose the colors pink and black and decorated with thousands of balloons. The most memorable part of the banquet came when Roger Flores adlibbed his way through the senior history recalling many near-forgotten childhood experiences (some of which would have been better forgotten).

DeJaVu provided the music for the prom. At ten o'clock everything came to a stop as the juniors crowned Amado Carrizales and Mary Lou Hayes king and queen.

At the strike of midnight no one turned into a pumpkin, and it was a big disappointment; however, a good time was had by all.

BREAKING UP IS HARD TO DO

Ozona performed BREAKING UP IS HARD TO DO for the District 6AA OAP contest. The play was about relationships at different stages of life. Leading the audience into the play, Stacie Winkley was an innocent bystander who commented on the quarrels and qualms of the couples, and sometimes even told of her own experiences with love.

An older couple, composed of Rodney Beasley and Stacy Lay followed providing a positive point on tolerance. The old man managed to cope with his wife, even though they were in constant disagreement.

To feature a younger couple, Tommy Tucker and Julie Carson were swinging singles trying to make a relationship work while a job transfer for one got in the way.

The final scene of the play featured young love, with Copie Davis and Amy Graham. Davis had to come up with a way to break up with his girlfriend without breaking her heart. It was fairly easy when Butch Gonzales took her from Davis and rode off into the sunset.

Copie Davis was named best actor while Rodney Beasley made the all-star cast; Julie Carson and Stacie Winkley were named to the honorable mention all-star cast.

"I was very proud of the performances. I feel that it was our best effort of the year," commented play director David Porter.

Sports' Banquet

The Ozona Lions Booster Club's annual sports' banquet was truly the MANE ATTRACTION which capped off an outstanding year in sports for the Ozona Lions. Guest speaker Willard Tate, a life skills professor at Abilene Christian University, highlighted the evening with a talk on self-improvement. He challenged athletes to become the best they can be and at the same time respect themselves and others in the process.

After Professor Tate's speech, the prestigious fightin' heart awards were presented to the various athletes. As the night came to a close, the returning athletes were given a challenge to excel to their fullest potential and to bring the winning pride back to Ozona.

Opens Many Doors

Although threatened by rain, the 53 members of the OHS Class of '87 ended their high school careers May 29 at eight o'clock p.m. in Lion Stadium.

Entering to Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," the class heard the invocation by Peggy Knox and were welcomed by Salutatorian Mark Sellers.

Rodney Beasley gave a speech on "Our Generation," and Roger Flores spoke on "In Years to Come." Michael Glaze gave the valedictory address.

After awards were presented by principal Jim Payne, school board president Jeffrey Sutton awarded diplomas as superintendent Garland Davis called the class roll.

Graduates, parents, friends, and teachers alike gathered to celebrate and bid farewell to each other as the ceremonies drew to a close.

Following graduation, an all-night party honoring the Class of '87 was held at the Ozona Civic Center.

Seniors Are Top Gun on Campus

As their final year rolled by, the seniors' MANE priority resided in looking toward the future and "the ivory towers". Although they had spent twelve years anticipating getting out and being on their own, the seniors soon realized how much they were going to miss their friends.

In the meantime, the seniors enjoyed being "Top Gun" on the block. They earned the title by demonstrating their superiority on the playing field and in the classroom.

The Snow Makes Seniors Feel Young at Heart

by: Jena Allen and Vickie Reagor
SENIOR SNOW PICTURES

The radio blared out the news that due to inclement weather there would be no school. Immediately the yearbook staff put their "bad weather" plan into action. Jena Allen and Vickie Reagor began calling as many seniors as they could reach by phone. Others got the word over the radio that a senior snow picture was going to be made in front of the school. Photographer Sandra Childress took the photo. Almost every senior was somehow able to manage the bad roads to be present for the photo session.

Prom Theme Takes Top Priority

With the first football game, the juniors got started early on their MANE money-making project the concession stand.

Next the class turned their interests to selecting a theme, song, and color scheme for the junior-senior prom. Under the direction of Mrs. Franco, Mrs. Riza, and Mr. Pool, the real planning started in early January. The class chose the colors pink and black and the theme song "I Wanna Go Back". All in all, the juniors worked hard and pulled together a beautiful and memorable prom.

Coping Proves to be Difficult

MANE ATTRACTIONS that appealed to students as freshmen became hindrances as sophomores.

An identity crisis replaced the carefree, confused image that they had been so comfortable with as freshmen. Sophomores could not get by on excuses, yet they did not possess the wisdom of the upperclassmen.

Most sophomores dove-in head first and tackled the class load, the basketball concession stand, and the Christmas dance. They soon realized that the busier they stayed, the less time they had to ponder who they were.

Adjusting Is the Name of the Game

Despite gibes and jeers from "cold hearted" upperclassmen, freshmen managed to "Get Into the Groove" at OHS. For some, the first few days were nerve-racking; however, others found high school to be laid-back and adopted a "Take It Easy" attitude.

After "Six Weeks" of learning "Weird Science" from Coach (Skippy) Myers, freshmen thought they knew it all. Although they soon realized that to be blamed for everything that went wrong was a freshman's destiny, they adjusted and became part of the MANE ATTRACTION.

JOE'S POEM

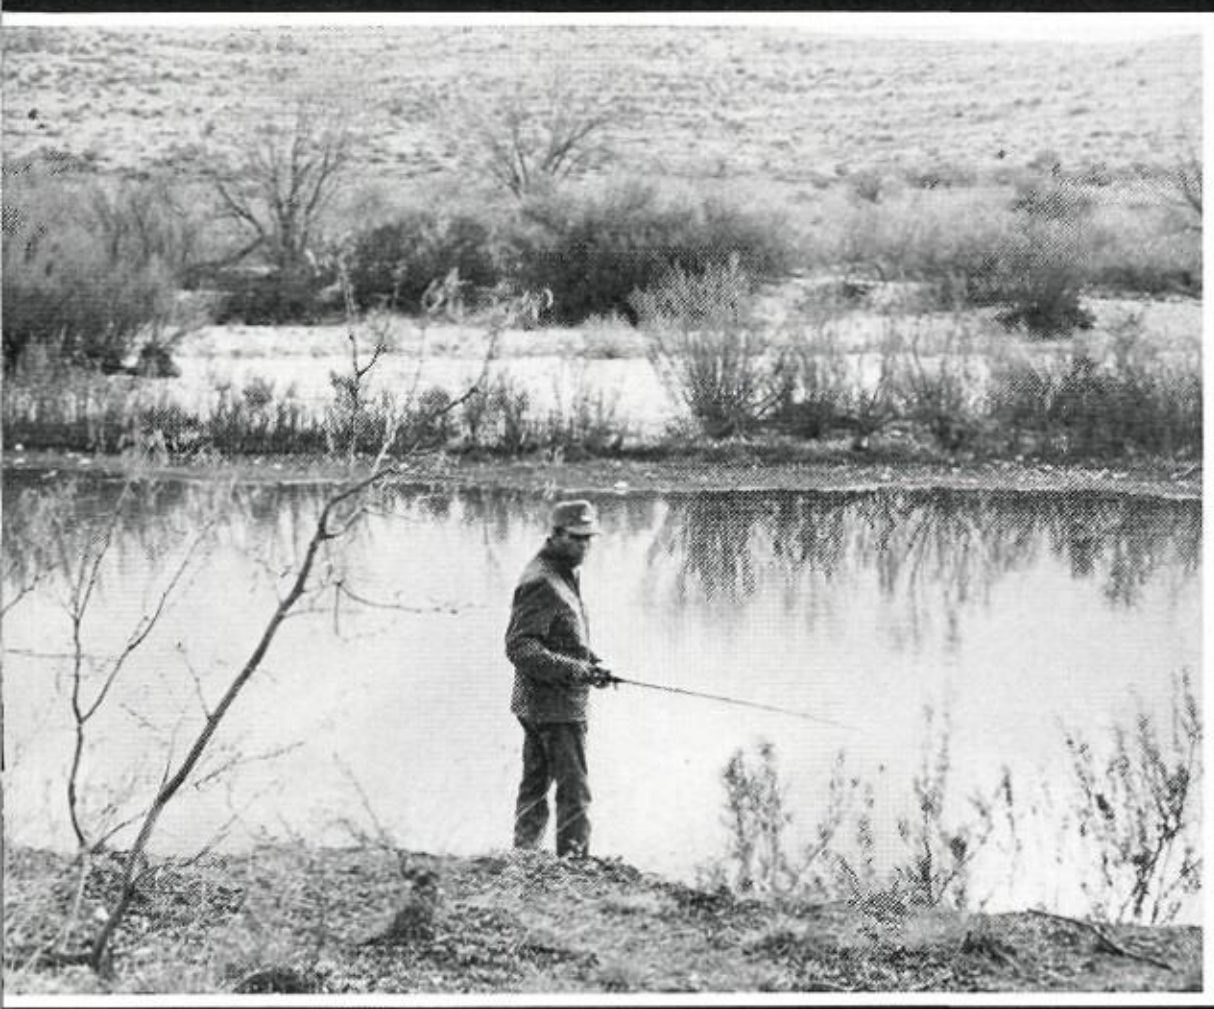
The tree that never had to fight
For sun and sky and air and light,
That stood out in the open plain
And always got its share of rain
Never became a forest king,
But lived and died a scrubby thing.

The man who never had to toil,
Who never had to win his share
Of sun and sky and light and air
Never became a manly man,
But lived and died as he began.

Good timber does not grow in ease,
The stronger wind, the stronger trees.
The farther sky, the greater length
The more the storm, the more the strength.

But sun and cold by rain and snows
In tree or man good timber grows.
Where thickest stands the forest growth
We find the patriarchs of both.

And by bold converse with the stars
Whose broken branches show the scars
Of many winds and much of strife—
This is the common law of life.



Joe Broome Couch, a devoted Ozona School Board member, died April 1, 1986, in St. John's Hospital in San Angelo. He was 63. He had been a longtime rancher in Crockett County.

He attended Ozona schools and graduated from the University of Michigan with a law degree. He served in World War II and then returned to Crockett County where he served as President of the Crockett County Hospital Board and School Board. He was active in many other areas, too, including being a member of the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church.

Mrs. Joe Couch said, "This is the only poem Joe ever wrote. He gave it to me with the directive that it should be given to 'our children'. To Joe, 'our children' were not only those we raised, but all the children that he knew."

Mr. Couch will always be remembered for his unselfish service to the youth of Crockett County.

The Year in Football '86

The year in football started off great with wins over Eden and state-ranked Iraan. After a few losses, the Lions entered the tough District 6 AA schedule. Playing such opponents as Forsan and eventual state semi-finalist Reagan County, the schedule turned out to be more than the developing Lions could handle. Winning just one more game, an exciting win over the Rankin Red Devils, the Lions closed out the season with a loss to Stanton.

Underclassman Oscar Payne summed up the season by saying, "It would have been a successful season if 'parts' of our game had improved;" he looks forward to a better '87 season.

The JV Lions, using a well balanced running and air attack, did well this year despite their 4-4-1 record. Losing out in close games, the Lions showed lots of promise in the likes of Mark Fierro, Lalo Rodriquez, and fellow freshman classmate Chris Denman. Also excelling was sophomore wide receiver Robby Tambunga. In all, the entire team proved to be competitive and anxious to contribute to the varsity squad next season.

Ladies Bustin' Loose

Winning is defined as "to gain by effort, labor, or struggle . . ." Thus it is appropriate to describe the Lady Lions' second season under Head Coach Rhonda Yarborough as a "winning" season in terms of much gained as the results of much effort.

Although the Lady Lions' season mark was 10-14, they showed tremendous improvement and great potential. In additiion to playing a more enjoyable brand of basketball for the spectator to watch, they won ten games for the first time ever, brought home trophies from the Sonora and Ozona Tournaments, and won all three of their overtime contests (including a tremendous OT victory against tough McCamey before a large hometown crowd the last game of the year). All accomplishments considered, it appears that the Lady Lions have finally "busted loose" from old, bad habits and losing ways to become one of the MANE ATTRACTIONS in Ozona.

Lions Capture Crown

For the first time since 1963, the Lions captured the 6AA district title.

Ozona won the first half of district out-right; however, the team struggled losing to Iraan, Stanton, and Forsan in the second half of play. The team suffered during a reorganizational period after the loss of two key players, one to grades and the other to disciplinary measures.

Stanton claimed the second half of loop play, setting up a play-off situation for first place. The Lions defeated Stanton and went on to slam Presidio 82-56 in bi-district action. The victory was especially fun to watch because every Ozona Lion was able to play and contribute to the win.

Next, Ozona met Coleman in the area game on Tuesday, March 3, at San Angelo Lakeview. The Lions were defeated by a Coleman team that Coach Curry described as: "Coleman has a good team with very few weaknesses."

With the inside game intact and good shooters with 3-point shot range returning, the Ozona Lions look to remain a solid MANE ATTRACTION in boys' basketball in West Texas.

Girls' Track

Girls' track really made strides in '87. The team brought home trophies from Sonora and Ozona and gave Iraan a run for their money at the district meet.

Eight girls qualified for the regional meet in Big Spring. The 1600 meter relay team composed of Lacy Miller, Tressa Crawford, Dee Frazier, Maria Sanchez, Kristina Martinez, and Lanessa Porter ran second at district (4:25.12). Maria Sanchez ran third at regional in the 3200 meter run (12:08.37). Due to an injury, Maria was not running at 100%. Kelly Williams qualified for regional in the long jump (15'6½) and placed seventh in Big Spring; she also qualified in the triple jump (33'4¼). Diane Sanchez was second at district (16.36) and fifth at regional (17.01) in the 100 meter hurdles.

These competitors and many others contributed to a fun and rewarding track season.

Boys' Track

Boys' track is a MANE ATTRACTION in Ozona. This year the team won almost every invitational meet including the prestigious San Angelo relays.

Nine young men qualified for the regional meet. Danny Sanchez qualified in the 1600 meter run (4:44.94) and the 3200 meter run which he won second in at state (9:46.0). Valdo Galindo qualified for regional in the 100 meter dash (10.66), the 200 meter dash (22.31), and the long jump (20'11¾"). Scott Denman placed second in district in the discus (135'9"). The 1600 meter relay team composed of Danny Sanchez, Roger Flores, Robby Tambunga, Valdo Galindo, James Sanchez, and Jason Montgomery ran sixth at regional (3:27.0).

Danny Sanchez said, "If we train a little harder next season, we can qualify for state in several events." The athletes are already looking forward to next year.

Beautiful to watch. Coach Pet Maldonado's team of competitors, lil James Sanchez and Valdo Galindo, a pretty to watch; but their workouts a gruelling. The fun comes in winning or being named track sweetheart and be as Diane Sanchez and Johnny Lombra were at the Ozona relays.

Varsity Tennis Teams

Ozona sent the same number of players to the regional meet as they did last year. Sylvia Flores and Suzy King highlighted Ozona's representation by placing second at district. Summer Shacklette finished third at district, serving as a regional alternate; she did just that after the second place finisher was forced to drop out of competition.

Overall, the entire team had their best year ever, placing more persons in the top four spots at district. On the boys' side, in singles Tommy Tucker and Mark Sellers finished third and fourth, respectively, while the duo of Travis Burks and Marcos Gonzales ended up fourth.

As for the three regional qualifiers, they came close to winning their first round matches but were edged out by a difference of a couple of games.

Even the junior varsity netters competed at the district level this year. Due to the change into a new district, a separate JV format was set up to allow them to gain needed experience.

In its third year under Coach Jerry Tucker's supervision, the team came from "just" a tennis team, to a seasoned squad competing with schools that normally had controlled the "net". Hopefully within a few years, an established pattern of regional qualifiers will be the norm and open the door to a possible state berth.

Girls' Golf Team

The drop from AAA to AA instigated quite a challenge for the Ozona girls' golf team. After being the district champs for a number of years in AAA, the girls faced more competition, and they were faced with some raw talent which was emerging from the other competing teams.

The first district tournament held in Iraan had an outstanding finish as Ozona's varsity swung its way to a first-place victory. This winning attitude continued through the second tournament in Rankin as Ozona walked away with first place still in their hands. However, in the third tournament, the tide shifted. Iraan pulled ahead, leaving Ozona in second place. Incidently, this tournament was held in Big Spring which would later be the site of regionals. The fourth and final round of district play was held in Big Lake. The girls were unable to regain first place; however, they maintained their second-place standing and departed with medals and trophy in hand along with a ticket to regionals. Jennifer Probst, Gina McCollum, and Randi Thompson received all-district honors.

Regionals turned out to be quite an interesting experience for the girls. Although they walked away with third place, they had to learn a hard lesson—how to walk away as losers but still hold their heads high with pride because they had played by the rules.

Although the girls didn't make it to state, they overcame some tough situations and exited at a great place to come back to next year.

The Mane Attraction presents... Clubs

Unit One

Clubs are the MANE ATTRACTION for many students at OHS. The kinds of clubs range from vocational to musical to academic. There is something for everyone.

Among the clubs are VICA, UIL academic teams, FFA, Student Council, National Honor Society, cheerleading, band, newspaper and yearbook.

Andy Trevino and Jesus Martinez, auto mechanics' students, help each other out as they learn every aspect of auto repair (photo 5).

The UIL academic and speech team made recent history by capturing a district title for the first time in many years.

Michael Glaze and Margaret Jones advanced all the way to the state meet. Glaze captured the first academic state championship in OHS history by winning news writing. In addition, he captured a second-place medal in accounting.

Jones beat the odds as a freshman and captured a third-place medal in Lincoln-Douglas debate.

Eight students qualified for the regional meet in twelve events.

Ozona captured six gold, two silver, and four bronze medals in district competition to capture the team trophy.

Glaze won accounting and news writing, and took second in editorial writing. Jones won L-D debate.

Others capturing district honors were Copie Davis, second in informative speaking and third in headline writing; Bret Hood, first in typing and winner of the chemistry division of the science contest; Tommy Tucker, first in editorial writing; Mark Sanchez, third in L-D debate; Isabel Benitez, third in spelling; Summer Shacklette, third in prose; and Brian Cooke, first in 9th grade oral reading.

In its second year of existence at OHS, cosmetology produced some trainees who were ready for the State Board Exams.

Styling and cutting hair, manicuring nails, and applying facials were but three of the services provided to their patrons. The officers were president Eduvina Limon, vice-president Susan Kenley, secretary Oscar Payne, treasurer Francis Moran, reporter Bernice Ybarra, and parliamentarian Julie Cantu. District officers were reporter Jennifer Probst and sergeant-at-arms Darlene Borrell.

In hairstyle competition, Frances Moran and Diane Sanchez advanced to state where Frances received a superior rating.

Under the direction of Mrs. Riza, the girls and Oscar learned valuable skills which will enable them to get a jump on the job market.

VICA officers. Vice president James Sanchez, president Abel Lara, secretary Butch Gonzales, and treasurer Kenneth Sessom.

The junior and senior "fix it" men in the OHS auto mechanics department provided a great service to students and faculty around campus.

Two boys from Ozona went to state competition in the VICA auto mechanics division. They were James Sanchez and Eddy Lewing.

At the VICA banquet, Kenneth Sessom was presented the prestigious outstanding student award.

Other qualities such as leadership were also stressed. The OHS class continued to rank as one of the top departments in its class in the state.

FFA Builds Character

"Guys, let's get this show on the road." Ag teacher Brent Pool gives the opening speech at the annual FFA banquet.

"Congratulates, Keith." James Sanchez welcomes new vice-president Keith Fowler.

Living in West Texas surrounded by cattle and sheep has its advantages which manifests itself in a prosperous FFA program. The students are given opportunities to compete in various contests such as livestock judging, grass judging, and leadership and parliamentary procedure.

FFA builds character and leadership while providing exposure to up-to-date farming and ranching techniques. At Ozona, this is accomplished under the capable direction of Brent Pool.

Being a member of the National Honor Society is truly a distinguished honor. Each candidate is carefully screened and judged on the criterion of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. This year eleven sophomores, five juniors, and three seniors were priviledged to be inducted into the elite society. After the symbolic passing of the candle, principal Jim Payne individually recognized these students for their outstanding accomplishments.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council Provides Hands-On Leadership Experience

The Student Council is elected by the student body and charged with governing the school. Two students are elected from each class and together with the four class presidents, they comprise the Council.

This year under Mr. Payne's direction, the council planned and decorated for the homecoming dance and purchased a laser writer for the school.

They also made an important decision concerning cheerleader election. They decided that cheerleaders would be elected immediately after football season to serve through the following football season. Junior Larisa Schoenhals commented, "I think this decision will benefit the student body by giving the younger girls a better chance for involvement."

Junior representatives are Todd Jones and Susan Kenley.

Student Council officers are president Abel Lara, vice-president Vickie Reagor, treasurer J. J. Ramirez, and secretary Butch Gonzales.

The "Pride of Crockett County" made history for OHS during 1986-87 as the group had its most successful year ever.

Hard work by a record 102 band members generated an award winning marching season as well as two fine concerts.

In addition, many bandsmen excelled in individual competition as well as ensemble competition.

All combined, the Lion Band became the MANE ATTRACTION of the year.

Lion Band Ends Successful Year with Concert in the Park

The 1987 spring concert in the park was a big success as large numbers of townspeople gathered to hear the band.

Throughout the performance, several awards were presented and numerous bandsmen were recognized for personal achievement.

Elected as band sweetheart and beau were Missy Ybarra and Michael Glaze. Glaze was honored with the John Philip Sousa Award which is given to the outstanding senior band student each year.

During the course of the concert, Glaze was recognized for earning first chair in the Region VII all-region band as well as being elected to the all-area band.

Solo and ensemble contest competitors were also recognized. Bass clarinet soloist Chantele Pesson and twirling ensemble members Jennifer Probst, Peggy Knox, Sandra Ramirez, and Judy Flores all earned superior ratings and advanced to state competition. Trebie West, flute soloist, received an excellent rating in district competition.

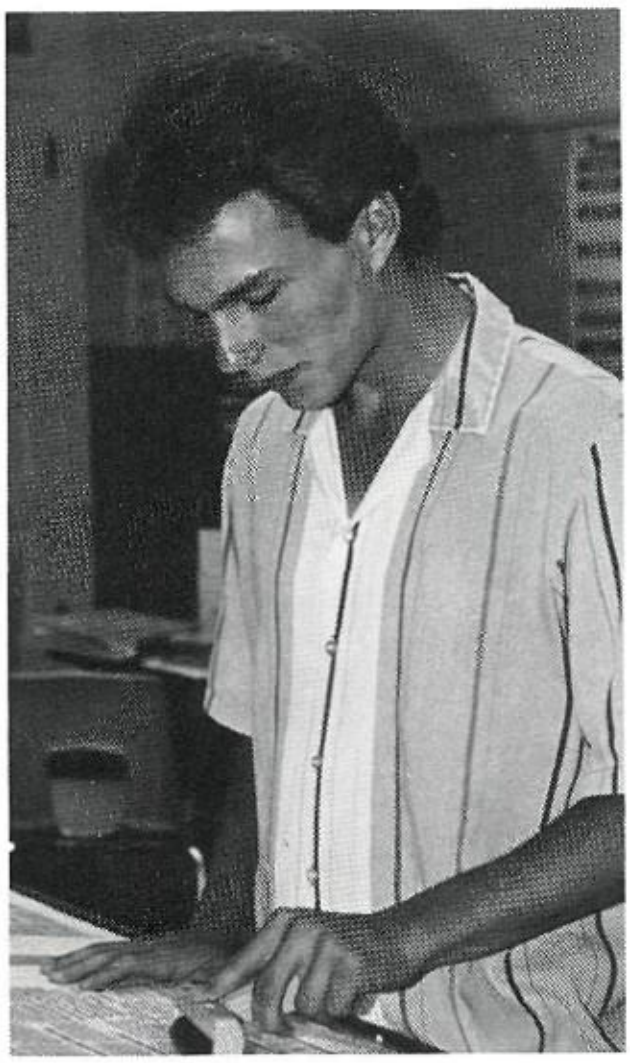
NEWSPAPER STAFF

LIONS' ROAR Staff Receives the UIL Award of Achievement



Keeping the student body informed of upcoming and past events was the primary job of the LIONS' ROAR staff. Writing various types of articles such as sports stories, editorials, and feature stories kept the students busy.

Each week the students were assigned timely topics dealing with events around campus. Three of the most difficult tasks which the students struggled with were typesetting, advertising sales, and new, technical layout designs.

"This staff was a very talented one," Shacklette said. "As a result, the paper was better than ever."

Two students placed in the UIL individual achievement awards. Travis Burks placed first in feature writing while Stacie Winkley received second-place honors in in-depth news feature writing. The newspaper itself received an award of achievement.

The industrious leader. Journalism teacher, Mrs. Jackie Shacklette, organized the production of the LIONS' ROAR.

"Let's see, this looks like the paragraph to omit." Copy editor, Trebie West, checks a copy of the LIONS' ROAR.

And the last process to be done is to roll out the articles and advertisements so that they are smooth. Travis Burks, feature editor, applies the finishing touches before the printing process begins.

YEARBOOK STAFF

For the '87 LION, the 'Mane Attraction' Starts Here

The '87 LION yearbook staff worked diligently to create a one-of-a-kind memory book that the student body could treasure for years.

Due to scheduling conflicts, editor Jena Allen was the only staff member to have an assigned yearbook class period. Together Jena Allen and new advisor Ms. Yarborough planned the book. Vickie Reagor did all the typing, and the rest of the staff worked on the book after school and at night. Roger Flores contributed all the artwork.

The staff was assisted by Mr. Scotty Moore (Crocket Co. News); Mrs. Sandra Childress (Cameras Two); Mr. Kelly Glaze, Rene DeLaRosa, Randi Thompson, Edward Fierro, and Jason Montgomery (Photography Class); Larisa Schoenhals (Staff Photographer); Ms. Rhonda Yarborough (Advisor); and Mr. Joe Chavez (Life Touch Portraits) who provided the photographs.

Mr. Dick Jacks and Ms. Paula Wilde assisted with the publishing of the book at Newsfoto in San Angelo.

The Mane Attraction presents... Junior High

Admit One

Soon to be Ozona's MANE ATTRACTION are Ozona Junior High students who have many activities of their own.

In addition to a regular academic curriculum, Junior High students enjoy a variety of extracurricular activities including football, basketball, band, cheerleading, tennis and UIL competition.

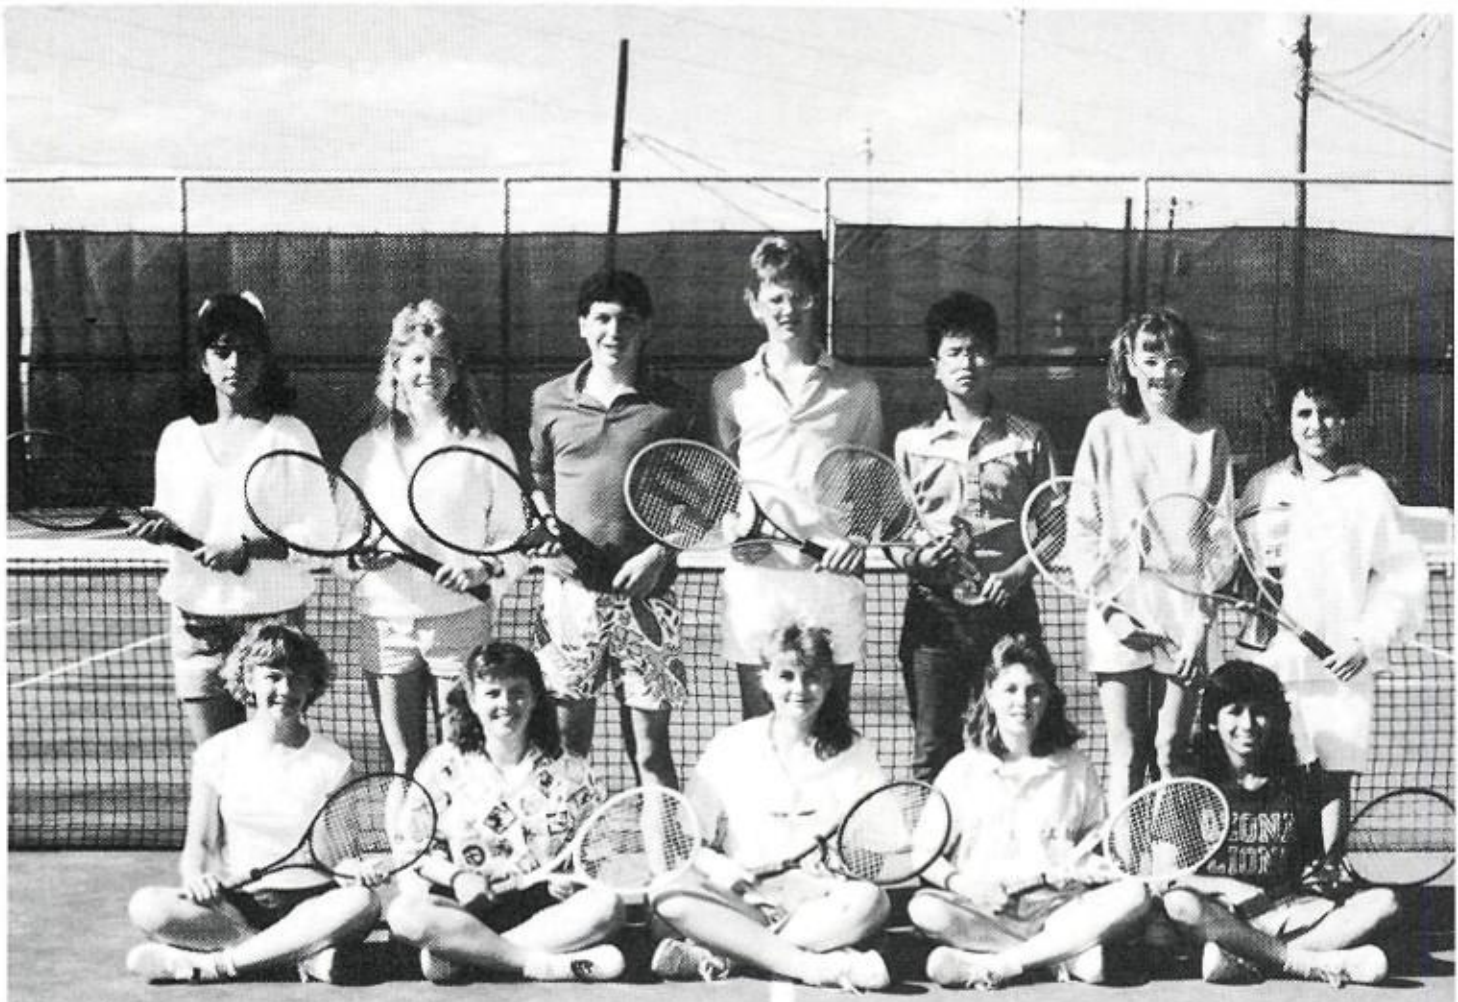
junior high girls' and boys' tennis

Grows Steadily Stronger

Little by little, the junior high tennis program grew steadily stronger as the seventh and eighth graders brought home more and more tournament trophies. At the district meet the results were: 7th Girls' Singles
1st Place—Ami Sewell defeated Katie Sellers (6-3, 3-6, 6-2)
7th Boys' Singles
4th Place—Alex Sanchez lost to Andy Patterson.
7th Girls' Doubles
3rd Place—Kristi Porter and Terrie Willmon defeated Gina Snyder and Valerie Perez (6-1, 6-1)
8th Boys' Singles
1st Place—Cody Morris defeated Justin Edmiston of Eldorado (3-6, 6-3, 6-4)
Chris Hobbs lost his opening match.
8th Girls' Doubles
2nd Place—Teena Tambunga and Jennifer Colin lost to Amy Evans and Amy Henderson of Eldorado (2-6, 4-6)
4th Place—Tanya Ramos and Janet King lost (3-6, 1-6)



Standing: Teena Tambunga, Jennifer Colin, Cody Morris, Chris Hobbs, Jason Moran, Janet King, and Tanya Ramos. Sitting: Gina Snyder, Terrie Willmon, Katie Sellers, Ami Sewell, and Veronica Mendoza.

Make for Spirited Year

"Let's fire 'em up." Signs decorate the gym and the band provides instrumental enthusiasm as the Cub cheerleaders perform at a football pep rally.

Standing tall. Tanya Ramos and Kimberlee Coy reach for new heights while Valerie Flores, Teena Tambunga, and Tamie Reagor provide the foundation.

Though somewhat smaller in scale as compared to the responsibilities of the high school cheerleaders, Kimberlee Coy, Tamie Reagor, Valerie Flores, Teena Tambunga, and Tanya Ramos' MANE attention focused on the duties as Cub cheerleaders during the 86-87 football season and school year.

While keeping their grades up and following through on personal tasks, the cheerleaders glittered locker favors, painted banners, learned cheers, and attended both junior high and varsity football games.

The five eighth graders proved that they could handle the responsibilities of being cheerleaders and assuming a place in the MANE spotlight, and still be good students.

eighth grade football

Continues Dominance

Over the past few years, junior high Cub football and winning have gone hard-in-hand. This season the eighth grade continued this combination; however, the seventh grade struggled somewhat.

Still, the MANE talk at junior high focused on the football teams. The eighth grade lived up to their "big boy" image as they continually dealt out humiliating defeats to their opponents.

On the other hand, the seventh grade suffered badly at the first of the season but came closer and closer to a win, eventually turning the tables and dealing out blows of their own.

Through it all, the eighth grade again proved that they were capable of competing; and the seventh grade showed that with a little more experience, they would be able to fill the eighth graders' shoes.

girls' seventh grade basketball

Adjusts to New Scene

Although the start was slow and rocky, the Cubettes progressed to a winning performance on and off the court.

In their first year of competitive basketball, the seventh grade girls adjusted to the new situation while gaining valuable experience. As with the eighth grade, the season proved bumpy at first. However, by the end of the year, the seventh grade bounced back.

Already familiar to the scene, the eighth grade Cubettes improved on their skills in preparation for future days as Lady Lion team members. The girls abandoned the "star-of-the show" theory and leaned more toward a team concept.

boys' seventh grade basketball

Proves to Be 'the' Sport

As soon as the crashing of football helmets ceased, the echos of dribbling basketballs filled the junior high gym. The Cubs unlearned their football skills and fine tuned their athletic abilities to basketball.

For the eighth grade, football was "their" sport; basketball proved to be a different story. Putting the ball in the hoop was far different from running straight up the field.

However, the talented eighth grade soon put themselves on track and returned to their winning ways.

The seventh grade demonstrated they were better suited for basketball and more than made up for their losses on the football field.

All in all, the Cubs continued their dominance in athletics.

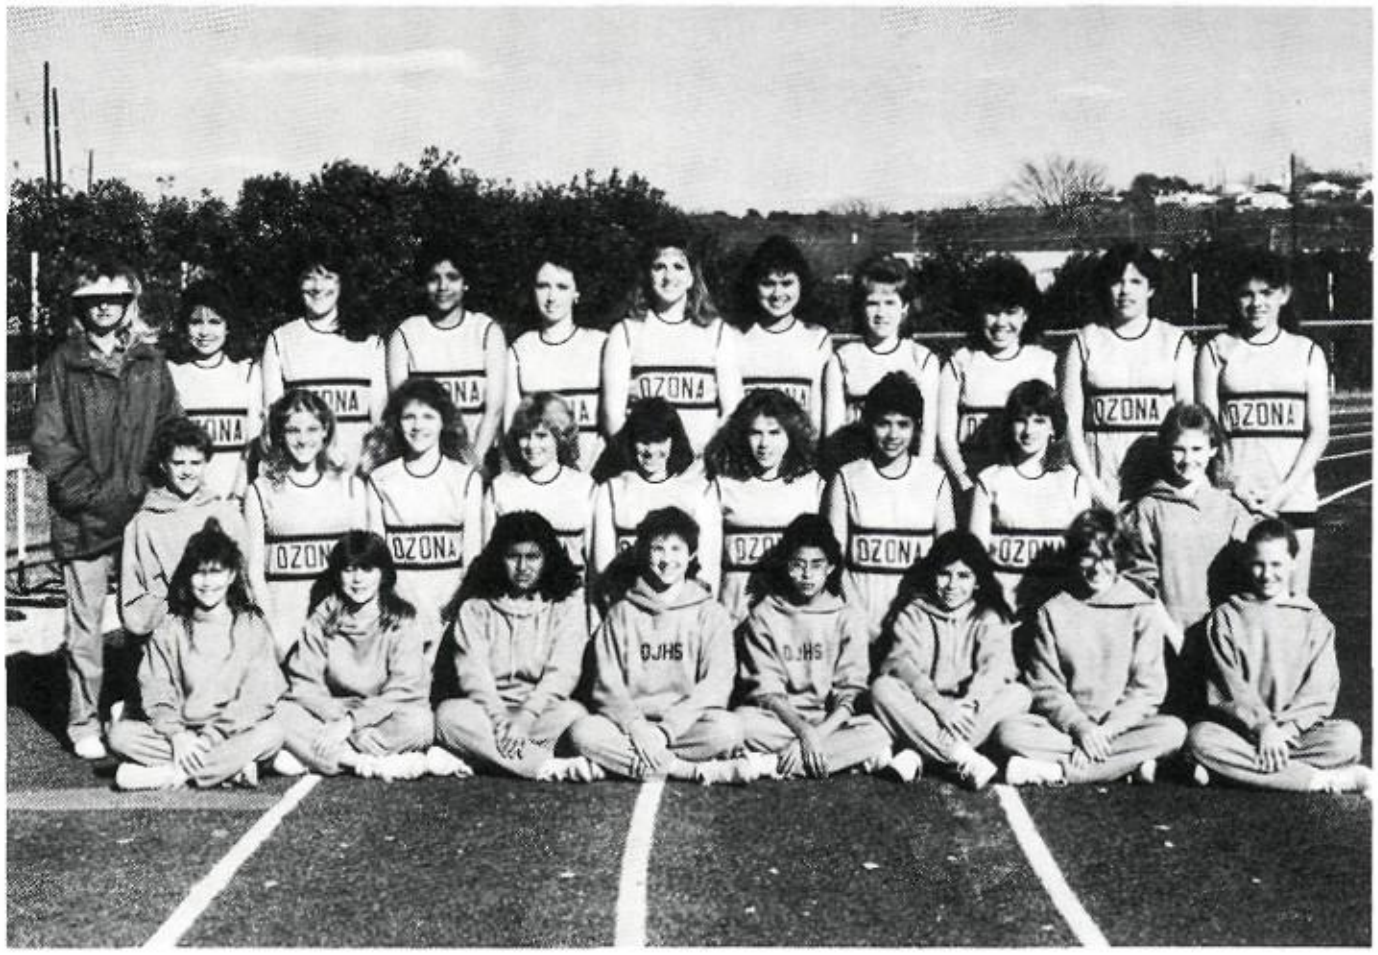
girls' seventh and eighth grade track

Claim a Championship

Although few in numbers, the Cubettes had a good, competitive track season. For much of the season, the eighth grade competed with only six girls. The program was under the supervision of Coaches Yarborough, Porter, and Schultz.

At the Sonora Bronco relays, the seventh grade was second and the eighth grade was third; at the Iraan Junior Cactus relays, the seventh grade placed first and the eighth grade placed fifth; at Eldorado, the seventh grade was second and the eighth grade was fourth; at the Cub relays, the seventh grade was first and the eighth grade was fourth; and at the District 6AA meet, the seventh grade finished first and the eighth grade finished third.



Standing: Coach Renee Schulze, Kimberlee Coy, Trisha Hartnett, Sandra Fuentes, Christy Cotton, Tamie Reagor, Emily Cervantez, Melissa Moore, Paula Galan, Kristi Porter, and Valerie Perez. Kneeling: Leslie Berry, Tamel West, Haley Carson, Janet McDaniel, Cullen Curry, Carrie Chandler, Claudia Avila, Susan Pullen, and Whitney Vanoy. Sitting: C. Jay McKinney, Leigh Coates, Tracey Ybarra, Kristal Cervantez, Michelle Mendoza, Melonie Tomlinson, and Amy Goshen.

"Christy, do you have on a watch?" Chr ty Cotton is out of the blocks ahead of t field in the 100 meter dash at the C relays.

"I think I can . . . I think I can!" Homewa bound, Haley Carson drives for the fini in the 300 meter dash.

Set Many New Records

The eighth grade Cubs burned the track with blistering performances during the spring; however, the seventh grade Cubs were a little slower getting started. Together the members of the two teams were responsible for setting many new records.

At the Sonora Bronco relays, the seventh grade was third and the eighth grade was second; at the Iraan Junior Cactus relays, the seventh grade placed third and the eighth grade placed first; at the Eldorado meet, the seventh grade was second and the eighth grade was first; at the Ozona Cub relays, the seventh grade was fourth and the eighth grade was first; and at the District 6AA meet, the seventh grade finished third and the eighth grade finished first.

p rally time. The junior high band per- rms at all junior high football pep llies.

Band directors Kelly Glaze and Eric Wharton had their hands full with the junior high bands, having to handle the numerous participants.

Starting in the sixth grade, the bandsmen work their way up, learning the musical fundamentals which are necessary in a sound band program. The seventh and eighth grade combined junior high band practices its skills at the Cub pep rallies and football games.

Those students talented enough and willing to put forth the extra effort competed well in the solo competition.

The junior high bands also put on a very entertaining spring concert. All these activities help to train the band members for future competition in high school.

The Mane Attraction presents... Elementary

April One

Ozona Primary and Intermediate Schools are very important for the younger people. Here, they begin their educations and become a part of the MANE ATTRACTION.

Marshall Hubbard, third grader, is the MANE ATTRACTION in photo 1 as he takes another prize while kindergarten teacher Dena Porter in photo 2 reads to her class.
